WE'RE STILL HERE

We don't need to tell you that this fiscal year has been filled with unforeseen circumstances. From making the tough decision to cut our 2019/2020 season short to navigating a pandemic while working to keep our guests and staff safe, Bogus Basin remained focused on the future.

AND STRONGER THAN EVER, THANKS TO OUR COMMUNITY!
CAN YOU IMAGINE THE TREASURE VALLEY WITHOUT BOGUS BASIN?

RUNS WITH TOP-TO-BOTTOM SNOWMAKING
Snowmaking enabled Bogus Basin to open for the 2019-20 winter season on November 29. Snowmaking construction continued during spring and summer 2020, doubling the number of runs. They’ll be ready for the 2020-21 winter season.

OVER 1,094 HOURS THE MORNING STAR CHAIR OPERATED DURING ITS FIRST WINTER SEASON
The new Morning Star high-speed quad enhanced the winter experience by providing quick, easy access to beginner and advanced terrain. During its first summer of operation, it helped launch the all-new downhill mountain bike park.

SEASONAL EMPLOYEES
Bogus Basin’s workforce represents a broad range of ages and backgrounds. It has been the first job for countless Treasure Valley teens, many of whom stay at the organization for decades.

1,200 SNOWSCHOOL SCHOLARSHIPS PROVIDED
The Environmental Education program saw over 2,849 students from 47 different Treasure Valley Schools. Student citizen scientists worked with the NASA SnowEx program, collecting snow depth and density samples and sending them to researchers.

550 SEASONAL EMPLOYEES
Bogus Basin’s workforce represents a broad range of ages and backgrounds. It has been the first job for countless Treasure Valley teens, many of whom stay at the organization for decades.

YOUR [RESILIENT] COMMUNITY MOUNTAIN
Bogus Basin has been one of the Treasure Valley’s favorite destinations for outdoor recreation since 1942. While a lot may be changing in 2020, our team is steady. We’re prepared to adapt so we can keep mountain recreation safe, fun and accessible in all seasons.

I can’t imagine the Treasure Valley without Bogus Basin, and this year, it’s more important to our community than ever. I’ve been hearing a lot about the health benefits of spending time in nature, and in these uncertain times, having an affordable place to take a breath and relieve stress (whether it’s on snow, on foot, on two wheels, or riding on the Glade Runner) is crucial.

Here at Bogus Basin, we’re proud of what we’ve accomplished this year. It wasn’t easy—this has been a challenging period in our history—but thanks to our wonderful community, Bogus Basin has a bright future. We know you need us, and we’ll be here every step of the way.
